FOUR ANGLED FIGHT IN WILLIAMSON COUNTY

MOOSHINERS, DRY AGENTS, KU KLUX FLAMING CIRCLE

THREE COMPANIES OF NATIONAL GUARDSMEN SITTING ON THE LID

ALL OF WILLIAMSON COUNTY IS ARMING, SAY HARDWARE DEALERS

(By United Press)
Marion, Ill., Jan. 9.—Three companies of national guardsmen today kept guard over Williamson county, scene of the "Herrin massacre," to prevent an outbreak of fighting between moonshiners, dry agents and the Ku Klux Klan and an anti-klan organization, the Knights of the Flaming Circle.

The guardsmen arrived last night on orders of Governor Small and Adjutant General Carlos Black.

General Black who arrived early today after an all night journey from Springfield, was deciding what steps to take to quiet the tense situation which climaxed yesterday when Sheriff George Calligan from his sick bed turned in a telegram to Governor Len Small, declaring the situation had approached the riot stage and was out of his control.

Guards With Fixed Bayonets

The guardsmen from surrounding towns of Mt. Vernon, Salem and Cairo, under the command of Major W. T. Greaney, arrived silently with fixed bayonets, marched through the streets, passed hundreds of men and women just as silent and unrolled their beds in the court room on the second floor of the court house.

They are the first troops ever called out as the result of efforts to enforce the prohibition law in the United States.

The Salem company was sent at once to Herrin, close to the Lester strip mine where 25 men were killed in the battle between guardsmen and striking miners in June, 1922. A large element of foreigners there has caused the forces attempting to enforce prohibition to center attention on this mining town known as the hot-bed of any trouble that may start in the coal mining districts.

Sheriff in Statement
Sheriff Calligan today gave the United Press his reasons for calling out the troops:

1. Three soft drink parlors out of the scores raided by flying squadrons of deputies federalized by federal prohibition agents together with posses of citizens who claimed they were members of the K. K. K. have been burned in the last week.

2. S. Glen Young, leading dry raiding parties after having been deputized by federal agents Tuesday night arrested several members of the Herrin police force and commanded one of them, Al Richardson, to turn in his star and resign at once.

3. Young's twelve companions in leading the raids yesterday brought to the Williamson county court house where Young was being tried on a charge of assault, two machine guns which they kept by the wall of the room during the trial.

Alleged Atrocities

Calligan also told of charges that raiders had beaten women and children and committed other atrocities.

Young last night was acquitted by a jury of five in justice court of the assault charge against Paul Corder whom he knocked down Saturday night after an argument over the raids.

Officials today said they probably would turn over to military authorities warrants sworn out last night by Hosea Cagel, proprietor of the amusement park near here which was raided Saturday night, charging four citizens of Williamson county who were acting as deputies with theft of $700 in jewelry and money from his home.

Nearly every person in Williamson county is armed today, according to hardware dealers, who said their sales of fire arms and ammunition had been greater during the last six weeks than ever before. It was in

POSTOFFICE OF ROYAN FLOODED BY TIDAL WAVE

(By United Press)
Paris, Jan. 9.—A tidal wave has inundated the seafloor postoffice and a number of shops on the waterfront of Royan, a message said today.

The swirling waters overwhelmed a steamer of the Bordeaux Ocean company, which was in port. Several fishing boats were also sunk.

WAVE OF TERRIFIC PROPORTIONS

St. Nazaire, France, Jan. 9.—A terrific tidal wave which rolled in from the sea between Brest and Bordeaux today tore the stone parapets off the sea wall and hurled them upon the sea front boulevard 200 yards away.

Boats were thrown upon the land and living quarters and other structures inundated.

Reports of property damage from the tidal wave have been received from all points along the coast. No casualties have as yet been reported.

DISTRESS SIGNALS FROM CHANNEL

L'Orient, France, Jan. 9.—The naval station wireless here picked up distress signals from the steamers Colliard and Tasmania.

The Colliard gave her position as 230 miles southwest of L'Orient and the Tasmania gave her location as 160 miles west of L'Orient.

Wireless messages picked up here indicate ships were suffering great distress all along the coast even as far north as the English channel.

BOATS SHATTERED BY THE IMPACT

Saboles D'Olonne, France, Jan. 9.—A tidal wave which swept over a considerable section of the coast today wrecked a number of ships from their anchorage and debris of many shattered vessels is scattered along the coast.

BAYONNE FRONT IS INUNDATED

Bayonne, France, Jan. 9.—Several boats were carried over the breakwaters during a heavy tidal wave which raged here between 4 and 5 a. m. The whole front is inundated.

FATHER SENDS OWN SON TO PRISON

TESTIFIES AGAINST SON IN THE MURDER TRIAL OF THE LATTER

(By United Press)
Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 9.—"Arnold looked me right in the eye and he said: 'No father, this time I really did it. I killed him.'"

"That's all, that is what he told me."

With these words Alvin Anderson, Brooklyn tailor, sent his own son to prison for life.

It may have been to the electric chair for all the father knew when he testified in the murder trial.

The boy, Arnold, was on trial for the murder of Harry C. Moore, wealthy real estate man shot down when he pursued Arnold and another youth who attempted to rob his house.

His father was one of the chief witnesses for the defense. The elder Anderson is deeply religious.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 9.—Deputy sheriffs and police today were searching for the slayer of Rowena Robinson, aged 17, whose body was found yesterday partially concealed in a culvert pipe near the edge of the city. She has been strangled after having been attacked, officers said they believed.

SIX DROWNED IN LAKE ANDREWS, BREAK THRU ICE

ALEXANDRIA IS SCENE OF CATASTROPHE, RECOVERY OF BODIES DOUBTFUL

CAR BROKE THROUGH AND TWO WALKERS FOLLOWING, ALSO PLUNGED IN

(By United Press)
Alexandria, Minn., Jan. 9.—

It will be impossible even to attempt recovery of the bodies of six drowned in Lake Andrews last night when a small touring car went through the ice, Sheriff Lundeen said today.

The ice is so thin that the lake is unsafe and a temperature of 35 degrees above zero this morning made such an attempt even more precarious.

The bodies of Mrs. Carl Glade and her two children and Mrs. Rollo Glade are believed to be inside the curtained rear seat of the car. The body of Mrs. Rollo Glade's infant may be floating in the open waters and it is believed the body of Rudolph Wolfe is underneath the ice.

Authorities said if it was possible an attempt might be made to reach the hole with a boat, but this was considered dangerous.

Only enough cold weather to create a thin ice on the lake will make it possible to approach the death scene, authorities said.

The husbands of the two women, who were brothers, escaped and saved their sister, Doris Glade.

The party was crossing the ice en route to a party across the lake. Rollo Glade was driving the car. Carl Glade and Rudolph Wolfe were behind, walking in the tracks made by the car.

Suddenly, without warning, the car plunged through the ice. The two walkers, unaware of the calamity, stepped suddenly into the open water where other members of the family were struggling.

Wolfe lost his life trying to save his sister. Carl Glade tried to save his wife but before he could reach her she went down with their two children. Doris Glade was holding Rollo Glade's baby when the ice broke, and came up under the ice with the child. She held on to the baby until she came up in the open water. By that time the baby was drowned and she released her hold on it.

The national convention is set for Cleveland June 10.

Houston, Texas, Jan. 9.—Two were killed and a score injured when passenger trains numbers 23 and 26 on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad crashed together in a blind siding at Katy, ten miles north of here last night.

Mitchell, S. D., Jan. 9.—Reports reaching Mitchell today say that John Sutherland of Pierre, who was chosen as manager of Hiram Johnson's campaign in South Dakota has resigned, and that either S. X. Way of Watertown, publisher of the Watertown Public Opinion, or Allen Fellows of Sioux Falls will be named in his place.

NEW BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS SUBMITTED

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 9.—The Alabama Power company and Associated Southern Power companies today submitted a bid for the Muscle Shoals project to the federal power commission. The bid offers to lease the Shoals for 50 years with an estimate to give the government about $100,000,000.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Earl B. Mayfield filed his first answer to charges of illegal election now under investigation by a special senate committee. Mayfield denied all of the allegations of the contestant, George E. B. Paddy.

Senate: Senator King's speech on Russia. Teapot Dome investigation continues.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The first official step to end the deadlock over the chairmanship of the interstate commerce committee in the senate was undertaken today.

Senator Dill introduced a recommendation calling upon the committee to organize and elect its own chairman.

Progressives also revealed a plan of which the resolution is a part, to oust Senator Cummins, regular republican, from the membership in the committee.

PRESIDENT HAS BECOME MIXER

Washington, Jan. 9.—President Coolidge is becoming a "mixer."

Developing methods that for him are new and unusual, the president has surprised his old friends and some of his newer associates with his gift of sociability.

In this connection the presidential yacht, Mayflower, has become the principal adjuncts of the Coolidge campaign.

The Mayflower is being used now more regularly than before. Practically every week end it sails down the Potomac with a party of congressmen, cabinet members and close political associates aboard. What happens on these brief week end cruises is interesting evidence of Mr. Coolidge's changed methods.

When he came to Washington he had a reputation for taciturnity which no previous president could boast. He sustained it fully on the early weeks of his administration. Visitors were received politely, allowed to say what they had to say, but the president would say little.

This was in keeping with his life-long habits of silence which he maintained even among his closest friends.

Of late, however, Mr. Coolidge has developed the conversational gift with his guests which permits a full glimpse of his well stocked mind.

On the Mayflower Mr. Coolidge is found in animated conversation with his guests. Politics apparently are a side issue. Sociability is the order and Mr. Coolidge is proving himself quite as good a host as Mrs. Coolidge is hostess.

The president strolls about the deck with his guests or smokes with them in one of the comfortable salons in the yacht.

Guests for these trips are carefully selected and of late have always included one of the congressmen "liberals" who have been counted as supporters of Hiram Johnson or Senator LaFollette for the presidential nomination.

Senator Borah of Idaho and Mrs. Borah, and Senator Frazier, North Dakota, and Mrs. Frazier have been recent Mayflower guests.

Brainerd Is Interested In Power Extension

Brainerd is interested in the extension of the Minnesota Light & Power company as this is the company currently reported about to absorb the Cuyuna Range Power company which supplies Brainerd with light and power.

Reading the article, one will note that the corporation plans more purchases of light and power plants so that it will eventually serve all of Northern Minnesota.

Duluth, Jan. 9.—Light and power development in Duluth and Northern Minnesota by the recently organized Minnesota Light & Power company, as now contemplated by the executives of the corporation, will cost approximately $20,000,000, double the original $10,000,000 improvement program.

Originally the old Great Northern Power company announced an improvement program in the vicinity of Duluth costing close to $5,000,000. Following the organization of the Minnesota Light & Power company and the subsequent consolidation of the former corporation, an extensive development plan was authorized to cost approximately $10,000,000. This included the new dam at Fond du Lac, increased facilities at Thomson, the new reservoir at Whiteface river and other local improvements.

With the purchase this week of the plants at Little Falls and Blanchard Rapids, just south of that city, and the receipt of word that a budget of $7,000,000 has been allowed by the officials of the Minnesota Light & Power company for improvement and construction work during 1924, W. S. Robertson, vice president and general manager, announced yesterday that all the projects and developments now in contemplation will entail a total expenditure of approximately $20,000,000.

More Purchases Coming
The purchase of additional light and power plants in this section of the state, so that the Minnesota Light & Power company will eventually serve all of Northern Minnesota, is now under negotiation by local officers of the corporation.

It is the aim of the company, Mr. Robertson said yesterday, to bring together the power from the St. Louis, Mississippi and Keweenaw rivers. Under this plan the company will be assured light and power at all times of the year and particularly when one or two of the rivers may be low.

"No two of these rivers are low at the same time," he said, "and there is certain to be sufficient power for all sections of Northern Minnesota every month of the year."

Included in the new program are the construction of several more reservoirs along St. Louis river to harness the spring waters, as is now being done by the plant on the Whiteface river, completed and placed in operation late last spring. This reservoir is on the Vermillion trail, about forty-two miles from Duluth. Surveyors and engineers are now out in a general survey of the territory to find the best locations for these reservoirs.

Transmission lines throughout the northern part of the state, to give light and power to the mines and towns up to the Canadian border, also are being planned in the big development program. One of these will be a line from the Blanchard

RYAN, BANK BANDIT, GETS LIFE AND 30 LASHES IN CANADA

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Norman "Red" Ryan, bank bandit and escaped convict, who recently was captured with confederates in a street battle with Minneapolis police, was sentenced by County Judge Coatsworth to imprisonment for life, with 30 lashes to be given at the rate of 10 lashes a month for three months.

The charges against Ryan concerned the robbery of a local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia which occurred after he had escaped from a Dominion penitentiary.

dam and the Little Falls plant to Nashwauk, with a capacity of 110,000 volts. A plant near Winton is on the schedule, as are extensive improvements to the local plants.

The local engineering office of the power company is now drawing plans for the improvement of the old Gidding store building, recently purchased, to house all the offices and executive departments of the corporation. The addition of three floors to the building is contemplated, providing the foundation can hold the extra stories. The main floor will be given over to the sales department of the old Duluth-Edison company, now a part of the power company. An entirely new front will be built, with the electric light and general offices in the rear. There will be a store and supply room in the basement, which faces Michigan street. The engineering, construction and other divisions will be located on the upper floors.

At Fond du Lac and Thomson
Work on the new Fond du Lac development project and the improvements to the Thomson plant are progressing rapidly, Mr. Robertson said, with the schedule for operations calling for completion by next July.

The Fond du Lac dam, about three-fourths of a mile from Fond du Lac, one of the most novel of its kind ever made, is the major project under construction. It will be built like an arch, 500 feet long and 80 feet high. The dam will be the tallest in this section of the country and the longest in Minnesota or Wisconsin. A total of nearly $5,000,000 will be spent on the Fond du Lac project.

Only one unit of what will eventually be a two-unit plant is being constructed at Fond du Lac at the present time. It will have a capacity for 15,000 horse power, with a transmission line going back to the Thomson plant, which is to be the central distributing point for this entire territory, including the range and west country. The second unit will give a total capacity of 30,000 horsepower. At the present time the Thomson plant has a capacity of 72,000 horsepower.

The new Fond du Lac plant will be served through a pipe with a diameter of eighteen feet and 250 feet long. Provision is being made also for the installation of a second pipe in the future, when double the plant's capacity is desired. The pipe is riveted steel and is large enough for a locomotive to drive through.

Activity Unceasing
The construction camp at the Fond du Lac site was erected last May and active construction work was started in June. There has been no cessation of activities there ever since, a crew of men working night and day. Close to 500 men were employed there almost daily ever since June. The men are housed right near the dam.

The transmission line running back from Fond du Lac to Thomson will carry 110,000 volts and will be about three miles in length. It is to be known as a tie-line in the network of cables stretching from Thomson all over Northern Minnesota.

At present there are three transmission lines running from Thomson to Duluth, one to Superior and one each to Nashwauk and Hibbing.

An outdoor switching station is now being erected at Thomson, while a second riveted steel pipe is under construction, the total cost of improvement.

RAMSAY MACDONALD GIVES PROGRAM OF THE LABOR PARTY

AS A RESULT ENGLAND FINDS ITSELF CONSIDERABLY LESS FRIGHTENED

BETTER UNDERSTANDING WITH FRANCE AND THE WORLD IS SOUGHT

(By United Press)

London, Jan. 9.—Ramsay MacDonald has spoken out the program of a forthcoming labor government and, for the moment at least, England finds itself considerably less frightened.

The press generally congratulates MacDonald on the address he delivered last night to a gathering which jammed the Royal Albert hall to the roof in celebration of labor's electoral victory.

As forecast by the United Press, MacDonald set forth as labor's first and principal objective when it assumes control of the government, a better understanding with France and the world as a whole, recognition of Russia and support of the League of Nations.

Also as previously predicted in these dispatches MacDonald revealed his intention of avoiding as premier any laborite agitation for extreme legislation.

It was this last phase of his program that perhaps brought the open manifestations of relief and in many unexpected quarters, support for MacDonald.

The Times, for example, says the future premier acquitted himself with considerable ability. It is not easy, the newspaper explained, to be "rhetorical enough to hold all the laborite followers without being inflammatory or moderate enough to avoid frightening the timid."

The Morning Post says MacDonald's new world compares favorably with Lloyd George the past 20 years.

There are, of course, jeers and sneers from MacDonald's opponents who hailed his speech as "soothing syrup" and the like.

Before today's session of parliament reconvened to hear the Lord Chancellor read the king's approval of the election of Speaker Whitely, MacDonald presided over a meeting of the parliamentary laborites in the house of commons.

Heavy snow began falling in the Twin Cities at 10:30 this morning and the thermometers began to recede.

Reading the article, one will note that the corporation plans more purchases of light and power plants so that it will eventually serve all of Northern Minnesota.

Duluth, Jan. 9.—Light and power development in Duluth and Northern Minnesota by the recently organized Minnesota Light & Power company, as now contemplated by the executives of the corporation, will cost approximately $20,000,000, double the original $10,000,000 improvement program.

Originally the old Great Northern Power company announced an improvement program in the vicinity of Duluth costing close to $5,000,000.

Following the organization of the Minnesota Light & Power company and the subsequent consolidation of the former corporation, an extensive development plan was authorized to cost approximately $10,000,000. This included the new dam at Fond du Lac, increased facilities at Thomson, the new reservoir at Whiteface river and other local improvements.

With the purchase this week of the plants at Little Falls and Blanchard Rapids, just south of that city, and the receipt of word that a budget of $7,000,000 has been allowed by the officials of the Minnesota Light & Power company for improvement and construction work during 1924, W. S. Robertson, vice president and general manager, announced yesterday that all the projects and developments now in contemplation will entail a total expenditure of approximately $20,000,000.

More Purchases Coming

The purchase of additional light and power plants in this section of the state, so that the Minnesota Light & Power company will eventually serve all of Northern Minnesota, is now under negotiation by local officers of the corporation.

It is the aim of the company, Mr. Robertson said yesterday, to bring together the power from the St. Louis, Mississippi and Keweenaw rivers. Under this plan the company will be assured light and power at all times of the year and particularly when one or two of the rivers may be low.

"No two of these rivers are low at the same time," he said, "and there is certain to be sufficient power for all sections of Northern Minnesota every month of the year."

Included in the new program are the construction of several more reservoirs along St. Louis river to harness the spring waters, as is now being done by the plant on the Whiteface river, completed and placed in operation late last spring. This reservoir is on the Vermillion trail, about forty-two miles from Duluth. Surveyors and engineers are now out in a general survey of the territory to find the best locations for these reservoirs.

Transmission lines throughout the northern part of the state, to give light and power to the mines and towns up to the Canadian border, also are being planned in the big development program. One of these will be a line from the Blanchard

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Norman "Red" Ryan, bank bandit and escaped convict, who recently was captured with confederates in a street battle with Minneapolis police, was sentenced by County Judge Coatsworth to imprisonment for life, with 30 lashes to be given at the rate of 10 lashes a month for three months.

The charges against Ryan concerned the robbery of a local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia which occurred after he had escaped from a Dominion penitentiary.

dam and the Little Falls plant to Nashauk, with a capacity of 110,000 volts. A plant near Winton is on the schedule, as are extensive improvements to the local plants.

The local engineering office of the power company is now drawing plans for the improvement of the old Gidding store building, recently purchased, to house all the offices and executive departments of the corporation. The addition of three floors to the building is contemplated, providing the foundation can hold the extra stories. The main floor will be given over to the sales department of the old Duluth-Edison company, now a part of the power company. An entirely new front will be built, with the electric light and general offices in the rear. There will be a store and supply room in the basement, which faces Michigan street. The engineering, construction and other divisions will be located on the upper floors.

At Fond du Lac and Thomson

Work on the new Fond du Lac development project and the improvements to the Thomson plant are progressing rapidly, Mr. Robertson said, with the schedule for operations calling for completion by next July.

The Fond du Lac dam, about three-fourths of a mile from Fond du Lac, one of the most novel of its kind ever made, is the major project under construction. It will be built like an arch, 500 feet long and 80 feet high. The dam will be the tallest in this section of the country and the longest in Minnesota or Wisconsin. A total of nearly $5,000,000 will be spent on the Fond du Lac project.

Only one unit of what will eventually be a two-unit plant is being constructed at Fond du Lac at the present time. It will have a capacity for 15,000 horse power, with a transmission line going back to the Thomson plant, which is to be the central distributing point for this entire territory, including the range and west country. The second unit will give a total capacity of 30,000 horsepower. At the present time the Thomson plant has a capacity of 72,000 horsepower.

The new Fond du Lac plant will be served through a pipe with a diameter of eighteen feet and 250 feet long. Provision is being made also for the installation of a second pipe in the future, when double the plant's capacity is desired. The pipe is riveted steel and is large enough for a locomotive to drive through.

Activity Unceasing

The construction camp at the Fond du Lac site was erected last May and active construction work was started in June. There has been no cessation of activities there ever since, a crew of men working night and day. Close to 500 men were employed there almost daily ever since June. The men are housed right near the dam.

The transmission line running back from Fond du Lac to Thomson will carry 110,000 volts and will be about three miles in length. It is to be known as a tie-line in the network of cables stretching from Thomson all over Northern Minnesota.

At present there are three transmission lines running from Thomson to Duluth, one to Superior and one each to Nashauk and Hibbing.

An outdoor switching station is now being erected at Thomson, while a second riveted steel pipe is under construction, the total cost of improvement.

RAMSAY MACDONALD GIVES PROGRAM OF THE LABOR PARTY

AS A RESULT ENGLAND FINDS ITSELF CONSIDERABLY LESS FRIGHTENED

BETTER UNDERSTANDING WITH FRANCE AND THE WORLD IS SOUGHT

(By United Press)
London, Jan. 9.—Ramsay MacDonald has spoken out the program of a forthcoming labor government and, for the moment at least, England finds itself considerably less frightened.

The press generally congratulates MacDonald on the address he delivered last night to a gathering which jammed the Royal Albert hall to the roof in celebration of labor's electoral victory.

As forecast by the United Press, MacDonald set forth as labor's first and principal objective when it assumes control of the government, a better understanding with France and the world as a whole, recognition of Russia and support of the League of Nations.

Also as previously predicted in these dispatches MacDonald revealed his intention of avoiding as premier any laborite agitation for extreme legislation.

It was this last phase of his program that perhaps brought the open manifestations of relief and in many unexpected quarters, support for MacDonald.

The Times, for example, says the future premier acquitted himself with considerable ability. It is not easy, the newspaper explained, to be "rethorical enough to hold all the laborite followers without being inflammatory or moderate enough to avoid frightening the timid."

The Morning Post says MacDonald's new world compares favorably with Lloyd George the past 20 years. There are, of course, jeers and sneers from MacDonald's opponents who hailed his speech as "soothing syrup" and the like.

Before today's session of parliament reconvened to hear the Lord Chancellor read the king's approval of the election of Speaker Whitley, MacDonald presided over a meeting of the parliamentary laborites in the house of commons.

NEW COLD WAVE IS DUE TONIGHT

TO BE ACCOMPANIED BY SEVERE SNOWS AND DESTRUCTIVE SLEET

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Jan. 9.—A new cold wave accompanied by severe snows and in some places by destructive sleet and wind is sweeping down on the north-west today.

Coming out of Canada where temperatures of 24 degrees below zero were reported last night, the cold wave will reach its maximum intensity in northern and central Minnesota within 18 hours, the weather bureau predicted.

Heavy snow began falling in the Twin Cities at 10:30 this morning and the thermometers began to recede.

"FIRST AID TO THE UNINJURED"

Or "The Success of Our Successors"
Was Theme of George S.
Wyckoff

AT SCOUTCRAFT SCHOOL

Opening Session Held at Civic and Commerce Rooms on Tuesday Evening

"First Aid to the Uninjured," or "The Success of our Successors" was the theme of George S. Wyckoff, at the opening session of the school in Scoutcraft, held for men in this county at the Civic and Commerce Association rooms on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Wyckoff is scout executive of the Minneapolis Boy Scout council, and was the principal speaker at Tuesday evening's meeting, explaining the big idea of the scout movement, what it is, its purposes and its needs. A good representation of local men were present at the meeting, and exhibited a keen interest in the success of the school, which will continue for eight weeks, meeting on each Tuesday evening, and closing with a scout hike early in March.

The Boy Scout program is not for boys, Mr. Wyckoff told his audience, but for men. He explained it as a mighty lever for the men of a community with which to reach the boys in whom they are or should be interested, and a powerful engine to make men of boys, provided it is manned with men of vision who still remember their boyhood and have the welfare of the boys at heart. The results of the program, if worked out along these lines, said the speaker, is the truest type of manhood developed in the rising generation, that can be conceived.

Mr. Wyckoff compared the boy to a fully charged electric wire, which if properly insulated and directed, is a mighty force for good, and shows the results in true manhood. If, however, this electric wire becomes short-circuited, or breaks, falling into the street or similar dangerous places, destruction is sure to follow.

How to meet the boy problem has been the subject of much discussion and has been taken up by all manner of civic and uplift organizations with more or less unsatisfactory results, because it was not rightly understood.

The boy scout program, said Mr. Wyckoff, solves the boy problem satisfactorily, where other movements have failed, because it meets all the requirements in overcoming the bad tendencies to which the normal boy is subjected.

For every hour that the boy spends in the school room, he spends four hours in other pursuits, said the speaker, and all the time his education is going on along the line of the environment in which he is thrown. If, then, scouting is used to occupy his time outside the school room, the boy learns lessons along the lines of real manhood, for he is taught responsibility, helpfulness, kindness and reverence.

Boy Scouting, said Mr. Wyckoff, is the wonder movement of the age. It began only 13 years ago, and now covers the country like a heavy blanket. It is actually a big factor in every community, filling a real need. It is worked out by experts and is perfectly adapted to develop the boy and his natural instincts along the right lines.

From candidate to eagle scout, the boy is given something to do, his mind and body are always occupied in constructive employment, but most important of all, he is building character, through putting into practice the twelve laws of scouting.

The Scout motto, "Be prepared" is a three-fold one, teaching preparedness in character, in citizenship and in helpfulness, and it is impossible to conceive the good that will result in the coming years, when the boy scouts of today are the men of tomorrow.

The idea of scouting, said Mr. Wyckoff, is to bring boys in contact with men, for every normal boy's highest ambition is to be a man, and it is the duty of the men of today to assist the boys in the proper paths of manhood, by example and otherwise. This is the highest privilege given to any man, to assist in making citizens of character of the boys of this country.

Tuesday evening's meeting was most successful from every point of view. The men were given an inspiration in Mr. Wyckoff's address, and entered into the spirit of scouting with a new insight to its purposes and with a determination to give every assistance possible to the movement in Brainerd.

Mr. Wyckoff at the piano taught his audience several good scout songs, all present singing lustily, and learning several new angles to boys songs that they had not thought of before.

"How to Whip a Rope" was Scout Executive E. W. Stimble's contribution to the meeting, in preparation for next week's lecture on ropes and knots, to be given by Prof. Drew of the University of Minnesota. A knot board containing many practical knots, and made by one of the Brainerd scout troops was on exhibition.

The "students" were given their instruction books and assigned their lessons for next Tuesday's classes, which promises to be even more instructive and interesting than the first night's work.

Mr. Stimble emphasized the fact that new students among the men will be welcome, at next week's meeting, and that none should stay away because they had missed the first night's work. He stated that a number from Crosby and Ironton are planning on joining the classes next Tuesday evening.

MELLON'S TAX REDUCTION PLANS

THERE cannot possibly be a more vital question to the mass of the public than tax reduction, and it is something that cannot be worked out or understood without careful study. No single plan, of course, can be perfect.

Here is what the Mellon plan does for the income tax. The tax rate on incomes such as salaries and fees, that is, the money earned by people who work for salaries or by professional men such as doctors, lawyers, etc., is reduced 25 per cent where the income is below $4,000 a year. Mr. Mellon also points out that there is an additional credit of 25 per cent of the tax on earned incomes of $4,000 or less, the whole really resulting in a cut of 44 per cent in the tax on earned income up to this amount.

The normal tax on the first $4,000 would be at the rate of 3 per cent and upon the remainder of the net income, that is the income with allowable expenses deducted, at the rate of 6 per cent. On the larger incomes the surtax rates would be as follows, according to Mr. Mellon's plan:

The surtax rates begin at 1 per cent on net incomes from $10,000 to $12,000; an additional 1 per cent for each $2,000 of net income up to $36,000; and then 1 per cent additional for the next $4,000 of net income up to $40,000; then 1 per cent additional for each $6,000 of net income up to a total of 25 per cent at $100,000 and over.

This seems to be a fair gradual increase in the taxing of incomes as the income increases. It makes the big fellow carry a fair burden of the responsibility in proportion to what the fellow must carry who does not earn so much.

A good thing about the plan is the creation of a board of tax appeals. This board would act in about the same way that the Interstate Commerce commission now acts regarding railroad problems. This board would hear all appeals from the assessment of additional income and estate taxes, sitting locally in the various judicial circuits throughout the country. Both the cases of the individual and the government would be presented to this board.

The plan further provides that if the decision is made in favor of the government the tax can be assessed by the commissioner of internal revenue and if the taxpayer is not satisfied with the result he can bring his case to court and sue for the recovery of the amount of the tax. If, however, the board decides in favor of the taxpayer, the commissioner of internal revenue cannot assess the tax. He then can go to court and sue to collect that tax.

Furthermore, if the Mellon plan is carried through the taxes on all telegrams, telephone messages, leased wires and radio is repealed. The tax on admissions, covering also the movies, is repealed.

NATIONAL AUTO SHOW

THE national auto show being held in New York this week finds crowds attending the big show and the interest shown is an indication of the success which will attend matters automotive when the Twin City Exposition holds sway, February 2 to 9.

It is mechanical improvement and the extras that appeal to a nation become expert in all motor matters that makes the 1924 exposition the greatest of the 24 annual exhibits.

Here is what people are observing: The four wheel brake; the small economical motor with reserve speed power; balloon tires looking like overgrown doughnuts which are claimed to give feathery softness to touring; development of the fabric body for all kinds of closed cars.

On exhibit is a Ford chassis with the hood raised to carry out a sweeping line design and the body built up entirely from fabric with wire mesh as an inside foundation. The light body material tested a year in all kinds of weather has proven most serviceable. A light body may appeal to those desiring more speed, but it may not be a factor in safety, as an upset or collision may work considerable damage.

NEW $1,000,000 WORKHOUSE

MINNEAPOLIS has completed plans for a new $1,000,000 workhouse with a housing capacity for 1,000 offenders. In making the plans and providing for the building, everybody seems to have been consulted except the future occupants of the institution. It is claimed it will be one of the best and most modern in the state.

What is needed now is judges with sufficient stamina and backbone to send the necessary offenders, especially drunken auto drivers, to the institution.

MAGNUS REJECTS FLO'S OFFER

SENATOR MAGNUS JOHNSON received an invitation from Flo Ziegfeld to judge a milking contest between members of the Follies company. Senator Johnson said that, although he could not be there, he would telegraph his congratulations to the winner.

When an old farmer of Crow Wing county was shown this news item, he said he thought the girls of Broadway were more used to pulling legs than cows' teats.

WOMEN are taking up all kinds of occupations. The latest unusual one is that of Miss Grace Cribb of Minneapolis, who is a successful cattle buyer and is well known to stock growers. In the course of a season she drives 25,000 miles through Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

PETE CONKLIN, dean of American circus clowns, joked with death at the finish. The Old Man with a Scythe didn't know how to take a joke and mowed down Pete, white spangled tights, jester's cap and all.

YOU often read of dope dreams, but the one in New York was real stuff, nine thieves seizing a shipment valued at $100,000, which had been sent from Turkey to a Brooklyn wholesale druggist.

THE trouble with some of these movie people is that they want to carry out some of their stuff in real life instead of reel life.

LIGHT, POWER DEVELOPMENT TO COST $20,000,000

Improvements there approximating close to $1,500,000. Formerly there were four wooden pipes running from the Thomson dam to the plant and last fall the first of the steel pipes was installed. This pipe has a diameter of twelve feet and is 4,400 feet long, while the pipe now being installed is 3,600 feet long and has a diameter of eleven feet. When completed, three of the old wooden pipes will be removed. The total capacity will then be increased from 72,000 to 90,000 horsepower. This work, Mr. Robertson thinks, will be completed in July.

Cloquet Plant Doubled

The capacity at the Cloquet plant has been doubled, with a capacity now of 5,000 horsepower, and a line running to the new switching plant under construction at Thomson.

A transmission line now runs from Thomson to Nashauk, but the future construction program includes a transformer and switching station at the range town to help serve that country and more particularly the iron mines. There is also the line from Thomson to Hibbing and the third line to the range is from Kawishiwi river to Virginia. These three stations are connected by three lines that cover the range, collect the power and distribute it to the various towns and mines.

Since the installation of electric power in the operation of many of the mines, an improvement that is developing more and more each year, additional power is now found necessary, particularly during the low water season of the St. Louis river. For this reason, the company is contemplating the construction of a transmission line from Little Falls to Nashauk, a distance of 130 miles, and another line from the plant at the Kawishiwi river to the Soudan mine and also to the town of Tower. This last line will then give complete electric light and power service to the Vermillion range. It will be twenty-six miles in length.

Additional improvements and extensions will be made with the purchase of other plants, Mr. Robertson announced.

"Our development program, when completed, will entail expenditures totaling close to $20,000,000," said Mr. Robertson. "It will be one of the greatest power loops in the Northwest and will take in all of Northern Minnesota and including all the iron mine ranges."

Shop Left Open for 23 Years Robbed First Night It Is Locked

New Rochelle, N. Y., Jan. 9.—The cleaning and dyeing shop of Motzkin Bros., for 23 years left unlocked at night in testimony of the proprietors' trust in their fellow citizens and as long left unmolested, was robbed last night soon after the owners, alarmed by the series of robberies in New York, had locked the doors and appointed a watchman. The burglars took several thousand dollars worth of gowns belonging to socially prominent women and left behind 49 uniforms of policemen and firemen.

Communist Activity Is Directed From Moscow

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 9.—"The department of justice has abundant evidence to support the position of the department of state with respect to communist activities in this country directed from Moscow," Attorney General Daugherty said today in a formal statement.

Daugherty's statement said that the evidence gathered by the justice department had been turned over to the state department and that any further statement as to its character would come from there.

"My attention has been drawn," said Daugherty, "to certain publicity supposed to have emanated from the department of justice in connection with the communist propaganda in this country and pertaining to that publicity already made public by the department of state."

"I beg leave to call attention to the fact that some time ago, before any publicity had been given out, I announced that the department of justice would give out no information in connection with this propaganda; that the department of justice would furnish the state department as it has done all the information in its possession and that publicity on it would be given out only by the state department.

"I have only this to say of it. Apart from the question of prosecution or of technical requirements to meet the provisions of a particular statute it had been clearly understood that the department of justice has abundant evidence to support the position of the state department with respect to the communist propaganda directed from Moscow in this country."

Joyful Family Reunion

"Two of my brothers, a sister, as well as myself have been chronic sufferers from gas in stomach, indigestion, pain in right side near appendix and liver trouble for many years. My sister tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with such good results that we all took a course of it and it helped in each case. Last Sunday we had a family reunion in celebration of our recovery and what we all did eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and leading druggists in every town.—Advt.

MELLON'S TAX REDUCTION PLANS

THERE cannot possibly be a more vital question to the mass of the public than tax reduction, and it is something that cannot be worked out or understood without careful study. No single plan, of course, can be perfect.

Here is what the Mellon plan does for the income tax. The tax rate on incomes such as salaries and fees, that is, the money earned by people who work for salaries or by professional men such as doctors, lawyers, etc., is reduced 25 per cent where the income is below $4,000 a year. Mr. Mellon also points out that there is an additional credit of 25 per cent of the tax on earned incomes of $4,000 or less, the whole really resulting in a cut of 44 per cent in the tax on earned income up to this amount.

The normal tax on the first $4,000 would be at the rate of 3 per cent and upon the remainder of the net income, that is the income with allowable expenses deducted, at the rate of 6 per cent. On the larger incomes the surtax rates would be as follows, according to Mr. Mellon's plan:

The surtax rates begin at 1 per cent on net incomes from $10,000 to $12,000; an additional 1 per cent for each $2,000 of net income up to $36,000; and then 1 per cent additional for the next $4,000 of net income up to $40,000; then 1 per cent additional for each $6,000 of net income up to a total of 25 per cent at $100,000 and over.

This seems to be a fair gradual increase in the taxing of incomes as the income increases. It makes the big fellow carry a fair burden of the responsibility in proportion to what the fellow must carry who does not earn so much.

A good thing about the plan is the creation of a board of tax appeals. This board would act in about the same way that the Interstate Commerce commission now acts regarding railroad problems. This board would hear all appeals from the assessment of additional income and estate taxes, sitting locally in the various judicial circuits throughout the country. Both the cases of the individual and the government would be presented to this board.

The plan further provides that if the decision is made in favor of the government the tax can be assessed by the commissioner of internal revenue and if the taxpayer is not satisfied with the result he can bring his case to court and sue for the recovery of the amount of the tax. If, however, the board decides in favor of the taxpayer, the commissioner of internal revenue cannot assess the tax. He then can go to court and sue to collect that tax.

Furthermore, if the Mellon plan is carried through the taxes on all telegrams, telephone messages, leased wires and radio is repealed. The tax on admissions, covering also the movies, is repealed.

NATIONAL AUTO SHOW

THE national auto show being held in New York this week finds crowds attending the big show and the interest shown is an indication of the success which will attend matters automotive when the Twin City Exposition holds sway, February 2 to 9.

It is mechanical improvement and the extras that appeal to a nation become expert in all motor matters that makes the 1924 exposition the greatest of the 24 annual exhibits.

Here is what people are observing: The four wheel brake; the small economical motor with reserve speed power; balloon tires looking like overgrown doughnuts which are claimed to give feathery softness to touring; development of the fabric body for all kinds of closed cars.

On exhibit is a Ford chassis with the hood raised to carry out a sweeping line design and the body built up entirely from fabric with wire mesh as an inside foundation. The light body material tested a year in all kinds of weather has proven most serviceable. A light body may appeal to those desiring more speed, but it may not be a factor in safety, as an upset or collision may work considerable damage.

NEW $1,000,000 WORKHOUSE

MINNEAPOLIS has completed plans for a new $1,000,000 workhouse with a housing capacity for 1,000 offenders. In making the plans and providing for the building, everybody seems to have been consulted except the future occupants of the institution. It is claimed it will be one of the best and most modern in the state.

What is needed now is judges with sufficient stamina and backbone to send the necessary offenders, especially drunken auto drivers, to the institution.

WILLIAM SYREEN

HEADS CO. BOARD

Range Man is Re-Elected Chairman and John Dewing Vice Chairman

AT ANNUAL MEETING HELD

Brainerd Dispatch Made Official County Paper For Year of 1924

William Syreen was re-elected chairman and John Dewing vice chairman of the board of county commissioners, at their first meeting of the year, held on Tuesday at the court house.

The Brainerd Dispatch was made the official county paper for 1924, for the commissioners' proceedings and the delinquent tax list. Disposition of the financial statement is to be decided at a later adjourned meeting.

An appropriation of $300 was granted to the Crow Wing County Poultry Association.

The commissioners went on record as favoring the budget system, whereby it will be possible to pay off road and bridge overdrafts in a three-year period.

The county attorney was granted permission to move his offices into the court house, occupying the rooms originally intended for the jury lounging room and the two witness rooms, on the third floor.

The overhead crossing over the Minnesota & International Railway tracks several miles north of the city on the old Gull lake road, is to be discontinued, and torn away, and a grade crossing substituted in its place.

The usual partial payments to road contractors, were authorized and the regular bills allowed at Tuesday's meeting. The complete proceedings will be officially published in the Dispatch at an early date.

Discontinue Friday Vaudeville

The Friday vaudeville, which has been very much appreciated by patrons of the New Park theatre, has been discontinued, due to a change in routing of companies. Only since the first of the year has the routing of vaudeville acts been changed, and Brainerd has been omitted from the list of new towns, because of its being out of the territory covered by the booking agencies.

This announcement will come as a keen disappointment to local theatre-goers, who have learned to look forward to the weekly vaudeville program with a great deal of anticipation. The bills offered the past few months have been very good, and the public has showed its appreciation by turning out for these attractions in packed houses.

The management of the New Park deeply regrets that this feature of the week's program must be omitted, but announces that wherever possible, high-class acts will be secured from other sources to be presented with the regular Wednesday and Thursday special feature programs. Visits will be made to Minneapolis in an effort to secure such acts as are shown at the State theatre, each one of which is a specialty above the average. As soon as such arrangements can be made, announcements will appear in the Dispatch.

Following are a few of the big special pictures to be shown by the New Park in its Wednesday-Thursday and Saturday-Sunday programs. Heading this list is "The Bad Man" with Enid Bennett, Jack Mulhall and Holbrook Blinn, the latter known as the Robin Hood of the desert. "Ashes of Vengeance" with Norma Talmage, "The Huntress" starring Coleen Moore.

"Potash and Perlmutter" at last on the screen, with Barney Bernard, Alex Carr and Vera Gordon. Miss Gordon made many friends in Brainerd when she appeared in "Humoresque." "Potash and Perlmutter" is a scream from beginning to end. Just recently it has broken all attendance records in the State theatre, Minneapolis.

"The meanest man in the world" which has caused so much favorable comment of late, especially among fair sex, is among the list that will be shown in the near future, with Bert Lytell in the title role. "Ponjola" the picture that necessitated Anna Q. Neilson parting with her curly locks in order to play the duel role required of this versatile actress.

Earl Williams in "Jealous Husbands," and Douglas McLean in "Going Up," the picture that is even more of a laugh fest than McLean's "Hotentot."

"Red Lights" with an all-star cast, "Anna Christie" the picture that is breaking attendance records throughout the United States. "The Call of the Wild," the great Jack

Brainerd, Little Falls Authorities Kept Close Watch on All Roads

Brainerd police and sheriff's officers patrolled the highways leading into Brainerd late Tuesday evening in an effort to catch a gang of five men, reported to have headed this way in an automobile from Staples.

About ten-thirty o'clock last evening, Special Agent Ryan, at Staples, of the Northern Pacific Railway, called up C. B. Jacobson, of this city, stating that five men had driven into Staples, and in a pool hall had been overheard to state that they were going to Duluth by way of Brainerd.

The men seemed to answer the description of the five Demetrius brothers, alleged railroad bandits, and although they did nothing to arouse great suspicion in Staples, the local officials were notified and kept a close watch of all roads leading into Brainerd, as did the Little Falls police. The suspects failed to put in an appearance, however.

This morning a report was current that one of the Staples banks had been robbed on Tuesday night by the supposed gang, but a long distance call to that town failed to substantiate the story. The telephone operator there had heard nothing of such a robbery.

London dog story, filmed with a wonderful dog in the leading role. Those who have seen this picture advise that it is much greater than "Brawn of the North" or "Where the North Begins," featuring Rin-tin-tin.

A picture that will be of interest to theatre-goers is "Six Days" Eleanor Glynn's American "Three Weeks" with an excellent cast and superb setting. "Pioneer Trails," successor to "The Covered Wagon," "The Love Pirate," with Anita Stewart, her first appearance in Brainerd for more than a year. The movie-going public will appreciate her return.

"Tiger Rose" with Lenore Ulrich, and "White Rose," a big D. W. Griffith special, starring the Gish girls. This picture will be presented in the near future at the Garrick theatre, Minneapolis at road show prices.

And Johnny Hines is coming back again. This time the popular comedian stars in "Conductor 1492," a typical Johnny Hines production and of the usual laugh-provoking variety for which Johnny is justly famous.

Watch the Dispatch for future vaudeville announcements and for road attractions, as well as first-quality feature pictures.

WILLIAM SYREEN

HEADS CO. BOARD

Range Man is Re-Elected Chairman and John Dewing Vice Chairman

AT ANNUAL MEETING HELD

Brainerd Dispatch Made Official County Paper For Year of 1924

William Syreen was re-elected chairman and John Dewing vice chairman of the board of county commissioners, at their first meeting of the year, held on Tuesday at the court house.

The Brainerd Dispatch was made the official county paper for 1924, for the commissioners' proceedings and the delinquent tax list. Disposition of the financial statement is to be decided at a later adjourned meeting.

An appropriation of $300 was granted to the Crow Wing County Poultry Association.

The commissioners went on record as favoring the budget system, whereby it will be possible to pay off road and bridge overdrafts in a three-year period.

The county attorney was granted permission to move his offices into the court house, occupying the rooms originally intended for the jury lounging room and the two witness rooms, on the third floor.

The overhead crossing over the Minnesota & International Railway tracks several miles north of the city on the old Gull lake road, is to be discontinued, and torn away, and a grade crossing substituted in its place.

The usual partial payments to road contractors were authorized and the regular bills allowed at Tuesday's meeting. The complete proceedings will be officially published in the Dispatch at an early date.

Discontinue Friday Vaudeville

The Friday vaudeville, which has been very much appreciated by patrons of the New Park theatre, has been discontinued, due to a change in routing of companies. Only since the first of the year has the routing of vaudeville acts been changed, and Brainerd has been omitted from the list of new towns, because of its being out of the territory covered by the booking agencies.

This announcement will come as a keen disappointment to local theatre-goers, who have learned to look forward to the weekly vaudeville program with a great deal of anticipation. The bills offered the past few months have been very good, and the public has showed its appreciation by turning out for these attractions in packed houses.

The management of the New Park deeply regrets that this feature of the week's program must be omitted, but announces that wherever possible, high-class acts will be secured from other sources to be presented with the regular Wednesday and Thursday special feature programs. Visits will be made to Minneapolis in an effort to secure such acts as are shown at the State theatre, each one of which is a specialty above the average. As soon as such arrangements can be made, announcements will appear in the Dispatch.

Following are a few of the big special pictures to be shown by the New Park in its Wednesday-Thursday and Saturday-Sunday programs.

Heading this list is "The Bad Man" with Enid Bennett, Jack Mulhall and Holbrook Blinn, the latter known as the Robin Hood of the desert. "Ashes of Vengeance" with Norma Talmage. "The Huntress" starring Coleen Moore.

"Potash and Perlmutter" at last on the screen, with Barney Bernard, Alex Carr and Vera Gordon. Miss Gordon made many friends in Brainerd when she appeared in "Humoresque." "Potash and Perlmutter" is a scream from beginning to end. Just recently it has broken all attendance records in the State theatre, Minneapolis.

"The meanest man in the world" which has caused so much favorable comment of late, especially among fair sex, is among the list that will be shown in the near future, with Bert Lytell in the title role. "Ponjola" the picture that necessitated Anna Q. Neilson parting with her curly locks in order to play the duel role required of this versatile actress.

Earl Williams in "Jealous Husbands," and Douglas McLean in "Going Up," the picture that is even more of a laugh fest than McLean's "Hotentot."

"Red Lights" with an all-star cast, "Anna Christie" the picture that is breaking attendance records throughout the United States. "The Call of the Wild," the great Jack

Brainerd, Little Falls Authorities Kept Close Watch on All Roads

Brainerd police and sheriff's officers patrolled the highways leading into Brainerd late Tuesday evening in an effort to catch a gang of five men, reported to have headed this way in an automobile from Staples.

About ten-thirty o'clock last evening, Special Agent Ryan, at Staples, of the Northern Pacific Railway, called up C. B. Jacobson, of this city, stating that five men had driven into Staples, and in a pool hall had been overheard to state that they were going to Duluth by way of Brainerd.

The men seemed to answer the description of the five Demetrius brothers, alleged railroad bandits, and although they did nothing to arouse great suspicion in Staples, the local officials were notified and kept a close watch of all roads leading into Brainerd, as did the Little Falls police. The suspects failed to put in an appearance, however.

This morning a report was current that one of the Staples banks had been robbed on Tuesday night by the supposed gang, but a long distance call to that town failed to substantiate the story. The telephone operator there had heard nothing of such a robbery.

London dog story, filmed with a wonderful dog in the leading role. Those who have seen this picture advise that it is much greater than "Brawn of the North" or "Where the North Begins," featuring Rin-tin-tin.

A picture that will be of interest to theatre-goers is "Six Days" Eleanor Glynn's American "Three Weeks" with an excellent cast and superb setting. "Pioneer Trails," successor to "The Covered Wagon," "The Love Pirate," with Anita Stewart, her first appearance in Brainerd for more than a year. The movie-going public will appreciate her return.

"Tiger Rose" with Lenore Ulrich, and "White Rose," a big D. W. Griffith special, starring the Gish girls. This picture will be presented in the near future at the Garrick theatre, Minneapolis at road show prices.

And Johnny Hines is coming back again. This time the popular comedian stars in "Conductor 1492," a typical Johnny Hines production and of the usual laugh-provoking variety for which Johnny is justly famous.

Watch the Dispatch for future vaudeville announcements and for road attractions, as well as first-quality feature pictures.

RECEPTION COMMITTEES

Brainerd Musical League of Women Voters, Business and Professional Women

Thursday evening has been chosen as "club" evening at the visiting exhibition of pictures now being held at the farmers' room in the court house, when representative members from the different organizations under whose patronage the exhibition is given, will receive visitors informally. The public is cordially asked to attend Thursday evening, and especially the members of the League of Women Voters, the Musical club, and the Business & Professional Women's club, together with their husbands and friends. This is in compliment to Miss Mary A. McColl, whose work is being shown, and who is a prominent club woman of St. Louis, being one of the charter members of the Town club.

Miss Johnstone to Play

Miss Alice Johnstone, talented young violinist of the city, will play several violin selections during the hours of eight and nine o'clock, and other entertainment has been planned also. Art and music are alike food for the soul, relieving the monotony of existence. Brainerd has been fortunate in having, through the efforts of the Musical club, music of a high order each season for a number of years. However, exhibitions of art are more difficult to secure, and the notable gathering of pictures shown here gives an unusual opportunity for all to see the work of a reputable artist, and one well known to many.

Reception Committees

The reception committee from the Ladies Musical club will include Mrs. A. C. Weber, Mrs. J. A. Thabes, Mrs. Henry I. Cohen, Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone, Mrs. Fred A. Farrar.

From Women's Voters League: Mrs. J. P. Early, Mrs. E. J. Quinn, Mrs. Rose G. Parker, Mrs. T. E.

McAULIFFE TALKS OF DEMPSEY'S FUTURE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 9.—Since Jack Dempsey took a smacking from Luis Firpo that almost knocked him out, Jack McAuliffe is wondering if the heavy-weight champion will be the same reckless, dashing, chance-taking fighter that he was before the fight with the South American.

Up to the time he elected to swap punches with one of the most dangerous hitters of all times, Dempsey's most valuable asset was his conviction that he was invincible and that he couldn't be knocked off his feet.

Dempsey had such a narrow escape in finding out that he was not punch-proof that the veteran retired lightweight champion is not alone in having the hunch that the heavyweight champion may have lost some of that valuable confidence in himself.

As far as the factor of confidence itself is concerned, the theory might be advanced that Dempsey, after his experience with Firpo, should have more faith in himself than ever before. He found out that he could "take it" from the hardest right-hand hitter in the business, and that should not reduce his reliance.

"My idea," McAuliffe says, "is not that Dempsey will be less courageous in the future, but that he will be more cautious. Certainly, caution has been no part of the champion's makeup and, in fact, it was the apparent indifference toward danger in the ring that made him the great fighter he is.

"Next to man, I have always felt that a thoroughbred horse is the most human thing in existence. The horse and the athlete have several faculties in common that can be picked out when we study them a little.

"On the track you can find the front runner; the horse goes well when he is in the lead and that falters when he is challenged. We can find the same type among human athletes, runners and boxers. We have the game, stout-hearted animal that takes a delight in coming from behind and winning on a heart more than anything else, and there are athletes of the same type.

"To get down to my point about Dempsey and the possible effect that the Firpo fight might have had on him, I want to use the horse again for simile.

"Several years ago there was a working jumper at the Brighton track named James McGowan, as I recall it. In one race he got a bad fall at one of the jumps, and he was never any good after that at that track. He always refused to jump when he came to it in later races. He was game, but he had developed what might be referred to as a mental hazard at that spot where he had been hurt.

"Another example of the same kind can be found in another thoroughbred named Barnum, who stepped in a hole on the far turn at the same Brighton track and went down. Ever after that he went wide around that identical spot and all the pull in the world could not get him near it.

"Those two examples, of course, were the result of instinct, but with fighters, instinct plays a most important and vital part. Dempsey, I feel sure, was knocked dizzy by the first punch of Firpo and he put up one of the greatest fights of all times on instinct alone.

"I had an experience of the same kind, way back in 1886. I was fighting Jack Hopper at the New York Athletic Club and I ran into a right-hand punch early in the first round, just as Dempsey did. It landed high on my cheek-bone, and I fought for four rounds completely bewildered. I didn't remember a thing from the start of the fight until I was ready to go out for the fifth round.

"The important point I wish to make is that, even after that, I was very cautious about a right-hand punch. I found myself time after time pulling away when I saw a right hand starting. I tried to correct it, but I simply could not control the impulse to flinch. It became so serious with me at one time that I questioned my own gameness, and it was not until after the Gilmore fight that I became sure of myself.

"I wonder if the same thing will happen to Dempsey. Admitting that the personal factor is seldom the same in any two cases, I still can't see how Dempsey can avoid being cautious and if he does start to watch, even a little, his efficiency will be reduced in a very important degree."

GEORGES FINDS RUGBY GAME STRENUOUS

Nantes, France, Jan. 9.—Georges Carpentier found amateur rugby football more strenuous than professional fighting when he essayed a comeback on the football field for glory before re-entering the American ring for more substantial inducements. The former French heavy-weight champion was completely winded at the end of 10 minutes' play and seemed entirely out of form. His team lost, 28 to 3.

Georges has gained 10 or 12 pounds since his last appearance in the ring against Joe Beckett and most of the excess avoirdupois is around his waist. In the opinion of experts, he will have to undergo some serious training if he is to make any sort of showing in America.

FIVE PLAYERS BOUGHT BY ST. LOUIS CARDS

St. Louis, Jan. 9.—Five players have been sold to the St. Louis Cardinals, it was announced. Two of the five have been with the Cardinals before. One is Ernie Vick, who came up from Michigan after he caught on the university diamond as well as starred on the gridiron, and the other is Wattle Holm, another Big Ten product, from Iowa university.

The three players who have not been up before are Shortstop Tom Thevenow and the pitchers, Fred Frankhouse and Lloyd Smith, all turned over to the Cardinals by Syracuse. Vick, according to Rickey, is said to be ready for major leagues in the opinion of eight out of ten men who saw him perform for Houston last season and were queried by Rickey. He will be one of five catchers for the squad.

ST. PAUL BEATS PITTSBURGH 3 TO 2

St. Paul, Jan. 9.—Beaten for the first time this season, the Pittsburgh hockey sextet lost last night to the St. Paul Athletic club.

The score was 3 to 2. That gives Cleveland the lead.

Leverette Thinks a Married Man Should Get Raise in Pay

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Gorham Leverett, the blushing bridegroom of the White Sox, breezed into Chicago yesterday in the wake of the subzero barrage and greeted Secretary Harry Grabiner.

"Here I am," announced Leverett. "I'm married and I'm thinking maybe you would be nice and give me a raise in pay for 1924."

"Of course it is not ethical to report such occurrences but Secretary Grabiner just smiled and said, "we always take care of our men." Therefore it may be assumed the Gary gunner is going to get an additional flock of gold this season.

Toilet Articles From 700 B. C. Unearthed In Carthage Ruins

New Orleans, Jan. 9.—Count Byron Khun de Prorok, archeologist, author and artist, who was in charge of the work of unearthing the remains of the ancient metropolis of Carthage, in a lecture here said that among the relics of classic civilization in Africa brought to light was a terra cotta organ with pipes and pedals, more than 2,000 years old. He told also of spectacles with thick lenses and perfume vaporizers used to blow perfumes upon women, and said the boudoir of a lady of rank contained rouge, face powder, mirrors and other toilet articles dating from 700 B. C.

The count declared he believed that, when further excavating is carried on, the antiquities revealed would be more startling than those recently found in the tomb of Tutankhamen.

$1,000,000 Workhouse Plans Are Accepted By Minneapolis Board

Minneapolis, Jan. 9.—The public welfare board has accepted plans for the new $1,000,000 workhouse at the Parker's lake site, as prepared by Colburn & Forsell, Minneapolis architects. The building is to be 650 feet long with cross buildings. It will include an administration building, two buildings with cells, one building for solitary confinement, quarters for guards, a dining hall, kitchen, factory building and power house, a separate garage and separate building for women. The workhouse will take care of 1,000 inmates at a time.

AMUSEMENTS

"Nanook of the North" is the special feature picture selected for the Parent-Teachers Association of the Washington-Lincoln schools benefit show, to be put on next week at the Lyceum theatre.

This is said to be the first motion picture to depict the actual life of the Eskimo, it being a truthful and vivid story of father and mother Eskimo, and all the little Eskimos, at home.

"Nanook of the North" is rated

SORE THROAT

VICKS VAPORUB
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

as a veritable gem of photography, with none of the glare and blur that so frequently mars pictures photographed in the country of the eternal snows.

In addition to being an excellent screen story, this feature picture is highly educational, and true to life, qualities that should pack the Lyceum on the nights that it is shown. The exact dates that it will appear next week will be announced later. Tickets are already on sale, and should find ready buyers.

When the cast for the new Irving Cummings production of Louis Dureya Lighton's story of the underworld, "Flesh and Blood," was assembled, a group of leading men and women were given the principal parts. All of them have been featured alone in former pictures; and now they may be seen together in the photoplay at the Lyceum theatre for two days, beginning tonight.

Lon Chaney has been regarded as the most powerful character actor on the screen today; and in "Flesh and Blood," he impersonates an escaped convict whose fear of the law is so great that he disguises himself and becomes a helpless cripple.

"Cash Nite" will be held at the end of the first show tonight.

Want a Wife? See "Bad Man," He Fixum Good

How far should a man go to make the man who had saved his life a "happy man?" There are various answers that could be given to this question and all would be different. However, one answer forms the theme of Edwin Carewe's production of "The Bad Man," a First National attraction, which will be shown at the New Park tonight and Thursday.

As far as the factor of confidence itself is concerned, the theory might be advanced that Dempsey, after his experience with Firpo, should have more faith in himself than ever before. He found out that he could "take it" from the hardest right-hand hitter in the business, and that should not reduce his reliance.

"My idea," McAuliffe says, "is not that Dempsey will be less courageous in the future, but that he will be more cautious. Certainly, caution has been no part of the champion's makeup and, in fact, it was the apparent indifference toward danger in the ring that made him the great fighter he is.

"Next to man, I have always felt that a thoroughbred horse is the most human thing in existence. The horse and the athlete have several faculties in common that can be picked out when we study them a little.

"On the track you can find the front runner; the horse goes well when he is in the lead and that falters when he is challenged. We can find the same type among human athletes, runners and boxers. We have the game, stout-hearted animal that takes a delight in coming from behind and winning on a heart more than anything else, and there are athletes of the same type.

"To get down to my point about Dempsey and the possible effect that the Firpo fight might have had on him, I want to use the horse again for simile.

"Several years ago there was a coking jumper at the Brighton track named James McGowan, as I recall it. In one race he got a bad fall at one of the jumps, and he was never any good after that at that track. He always refused to jump when he came to it in later races. He was game, but he had developed what might be referred to as a mental hazard at that spot where he had been hurt.

"Another example of the same kind can be found in another thoroughbred named Barnum, who stepped in a hole on the far turn at the same Brighton track and went down. Ever after that he went wide around that identical spot and all the pull in the world could not get him near it.

"Those two examples, of course, were the result of instinct, but with fighters, instinct plays a most important and vital part. Dempsey, I feel sure, was knocked dizzy by the first punch of Firpo and he put up one of the greatest fights of all times on instinct alone.

"I had an experience of the same kind, way back in 1886. I was fighting Jack Hopper at the New York Athletic Club and I ran into a right-hand punch early in the first round, just as Dempsey did. It landed high on my cheek-bone, and I fought for four rounds completely bewildered. I didn't remember a thing from the start of the fight until I was ready to go out for the fifth round.

"The important point I wish to make is that, even after that, I was very cautious about a right-hand punch. I found myself time after time pulling away when I saw a right hand starting. I tried to correct it, but I simply could not control the impulse to flinch. It became so serious with me at one time that I questioned my own gameness, and it was not until after the Gilmore fight that I became sure of myself.

"I wonder if the same thing will happen to Dempsey. Admitting that the personal factor is seldom the same in any two cases, I still can't see how Dempsey can avoid being cautious and if he does start to watch, even a little, his efficiency will be reduced in a very important degree."

GEORGES FINDS RUGBY GAME STRENUOUS

FIVE PLAYERS BOUGHT BY ST. LOUIS CARDS

Nantes, France, Jan. 9.—Georges Carpentier found amateur rugby football more strenuous than professional fighting when he essayed a comeback on the football field for glory before re-entering the American ring for more substantial inducements. The former French heavy-weight champion was completely winded at the end of 10 minutes' play and seemed entirely out of form. His team lost, 28 to 3.

Georges has gained 10 or 12 pounds since his last appearance in the ring against Joe Beckett and most of the excess avoirdupois is around his waist. In the opinion of experts, he will have to undergo some serious training if he is to make any sort of showing in America.

The three players who have not been up before are Shortstop Tom Thevenow and the pitchers, Fred Frankhouse and Lloyd Smith, all turned over to the Cardinals by Syracuse. Vick, according to Riekey, is said to be ready for major leagues in the opinion of eight out of ten men who saw him perform for Houston last season and were queried by Riekey. He will be one of five catchers for the squad.

ST. PAUL BEATS PITTSBURGH 3 TO 2

St. Paul, Jan. 9.—Beaten for the first time this season, the Pittsburgh hockey sextet lost last night to the St. Paul Athletic club.

The score was 3 to 2. That gives Cleveland the lead.

Leverette Thinks a Married Man Should Get Raise in Pay

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Gorham Leverett, the blushing bridegroom of the White Sox, breezed into Chicago yesterday in the wake of the subway barrage and greeted Secretary Harry Grabiner.

"Here I am," announced Leverett, "I'm married and I'm thinking maybe you would be nice and give me a raise in pay for 1924."

"Of course it is not ethical to report such occurrences but Secretary Grabiner just smiled and said, "We always take care of our men." Therefore it may be assumed the Gary gunner is going to get an additional flock of gold this season.

Toilet Articles From 700 B. C. Unearthed In Carthage Ruins

New Orleans, Jan. 9.—Count Byron Khun de Porok, archeologist, author and artist, who was in charge of the work of unearthing the remains of the ancient metropolis of Carthage, in a lecture here said that among the relics of classic civilization in Africa brought to light was a terra cotta organ with pipes and pedals, more than 2,000 years old. He told also of spectacles with thick lenses and perfume vaporizers used to blow perfumes upon women, and said the boudoir of a lady of rank contained rouge, face powder, mirrors and other toilet articles dating from 700 B. C.

The count declared he believed that, when further excavating is carried on, the antiquities revealed would be more startling than those recently found in the tomb of Tutankhamen.

The workhouse will take care of 1,000 inmates at a time.

AMUSEMENTS

"Nanook of the North"

"Nanook of the North" is the special feature picture selected for the Parent-Teachers Association of the Washington-Lincoln schools benefit show, to be put on next week at the Lyceum theatre.

This is said to be the first motion picture to depict the actual life of the Eskimo, it being a truthful and vivid story of father and mother Eskimo, and all the little Eskimos, at home.

"Nanook of the North" is rated

SORE THROAT

as a veritable gem of photography, with none of the glare and blur that so frequently mars pictures photographed in the country of the eternal snows.

In addition to being an excellent screen story, this feature picture is highly educational, and true to life, qualities that should pack the Lyceum on the nights that it is shown. The exact dates that it will appear next week will be announced later. Tickets are already on sale, and should find ready buyers.

When the cast for the new Irving Cummings production of Louis Duryea Lighton's story of the underworld, "Flesh and Blood," was assembled, a group of leading men and women were given the principal parts. All of them have been featured alone in former pictures; and now they may be seen together in the photoplay at the Lyceum theatre for two days, beginning tonight. Lon Chaney has been regarded as the most powerful character actor on the screen today; and in "Flesh and Blood," he impersonates an escaped convict whose fear of the law is so great that he disguises himself and becomes a helpless cripple.

"Cash Nite" will be held at the end of the first show tonight.

Want a Wife? See "Bad Man." He Fixum Good

How far should a man go to make the man who had saved his life a "happy man?"

There are various answers that could be given to this question and all would be different. However, one answer forms the theme of Edwin Carewe's production of "The Bad Man," a First National attraction, which will be shown at the New Park tonight and Thursday.
